4212. SHRI GURUDAS DAS GUPTA:
SHRI CHATURANAN MISHRA:

Will the Minister of WATER RESOURCES be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that nearly 50 per cent of the 3.15 million'hectares of geographical area idnetified as flood-prone in Assam has been accorded protection by the end of 1986; and

(b) if so, what is Government's reaction to the yastness of the area affected 'and devastation caused by the latest flood in that State?

THE MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE (SHRI G. S. DHILLON): (a) Yes, Sir.

(b) This year, the Brahmaputra has exceeded the highest flood level of the past at Dibrugarh, Nimatigrrat and Guwa-hati and its tributary Burin Dihing at Khowang. Occurrence of floods of a record magnitude leads to overtopping and breach of embankments which are generally designed to cope with a flood of 25 years' frequency. At places, the problem can be compounded because of inadequate maintenance leading to breaches or cuts in embankments made by people in order to save their property. In some cases, where high intensity precipitation takes place in areas given reasonable protection during the flood period, it leads to drainage congestion in the hinterland.
